

THE PASSING OF ZIMMY.

He Fulfills His Promise of Deserting the Amateur Ranks.

THE SNAP HE HAS IN FRANCE

Would Tempt Any Man—The Amateur Says Something As to His Reasons for This Action—Afrail of Fast Amateurs and Took a Sure Thing—Points About the Road Race.

The return of Troy, Arthur Zimmerman's backer, from France with his report, was anxiously watched, and now the news has been flashed all over the country that the great amateur champion has gone over to the professionals body and soul. There were thousands of the champion's admirers who to the last refused to believe that their idol would descend from the proud eminence—amateur champion of the world—to the sloughs of professionalism, which in America at least has in nearly every instance been closely allied with the hippodrome. But it is true; "Zimmy," the Jersey lad who has turned the cranks on two continents to the refrain of "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail Columbia," victorious every time, has bartered his amateur status for paltry French gold.

In an interview, Zimmerman talks of his reasons for the step he has taken: "The only thing against a professional is the reputation which clings to him, thanks to the fakers of former years, whose hippodromes are so familiar to us. I claim a man can be a gentleman, professional or amateur, and when you consider the fact that I have won as an amateur everything that could be gathered in diamonds, horses, carriages, clothes, furniture, medals, and bric-a-brac, what have I to gain by remaining an amateur and refusing this offer, which may be the chance of a lifetime? I have proven conclusively, I think, that I am the amateur champion, and as such I hope I shall always be remembered. There are faster men in the amateur ranks than are to be found among the professionals, and surely I can defeat the former, I should have it easier as a professional. Each Napoleon must meet his Waterloo, sooner or later, and while I have never experienced any trouble in winning in the past, who can tell when my master may appear and I shall have lost my prestige? I do not claim to be invincible, and am perfectly content to rest right now on my laurels, so to speak, won by me as an amateur. Should I be beaten continually as a professional, I shall always remember that I quit as an amateur when my reputation was the best."

The passing of Zimmerman has caused unqualified delight among the men who had feared the champion in the races scheduled to take place on the national circuit. Now the question is: Who is the fastest of the amateurs and non-professionals? and it will receive even more attention than it has received from the time the race comes. The competition between Johnson, Durringer, Bliss, Bald and others will be fought out with the warmest kind of rivalry.

Johnson seems to have the best chance, and will be the favorite at the start, although if he does not show up better in his private competition, he stands a chance of giving way to one of the remaining men. Will Zimmerman better himself in a question interesting to his friends? For several years he has made his livelihood from the bicycle business, and, judging from the outlook for cycling in this country and on the other side of the Atlantic, he stands an excellent chance of making annually the salary of a bank president.

The bicycle riders of the city are taking an active interest in the coming Intelligence Decoration Day road race, and already a number of the boys are taking long daily epics in efforts to get themselves in perfect physical condition by the time the race comes. A large number of entries are assured.

Will Greer, the professional bicycle racer, announces that he intends to start with the scratch men and endeavor to defeat the winner of the race. Greer has a knack of doing up relay riders, as was instanced last fall in the Intelligence relay race from Pittsburgh to Wheeling, and he may succeed in this attempt, but the general opinion is that there are several among the amateurs who can go him one better. Greer's attempt will be watched with interest.

There is considerable interest manifested in century road runs this spring, and it is probable that the Century Road Club of America will receive additions to its membership from Wheeling in a short time. For membership it is required that a straight-away road run of one hundred miles within sixteen hours be made. Several of the hard riding contingent have made the run, one being Charley Stroebel, who rolled it off late last fall. Riders who would like to make the attempt, from Wheeling to Centerville, Pa., and return next Friday should see Mr. Stroebel, who will make the arrangements.

The Y. M. C. A. Cycle Club, purely a road organization which was recently organized, is rapidly growing in membership. The boys indulge in evening runs almost daily, and are becoming hard road riders.

John Coleman, the South Chapline street druggist, has contributed a fine smoker's set, in honor, as one of the prizes for the road race. Mr. Coleman is a new rider, and as an enthusiast ranks at the top.

And still the craze for featherweight wheels continues. Two years ago a 35-pound safety was away down; now anything above 30 pounds is considered a lumber wagon. Several Triangles here weigh under 25 pounds, and a Sterling tips the beam at an even 20 pounds. The limit has been reached, and before the season is half over, a reaction may be looked for.

Greer to McClelland.

Will Greer, the professional racing man, thus replies to McClelland's proposition that he be given three laps start in a race between the two rollers vs. bicycle, at the North End rink: "I cannot give McClelland over two laps handicap, as there is too much danger in riding in such a close place as the rink."

Have ball to-day.

This afternoon the Genoa base team will meet the Martin's Ferry club at the latter's grounds. Last Sunday the same teams met on the tunnel green and the Ohio boys won in a closely contested game. The Genoa boys hope to retrieve their fallen fortunes this afternoon when the following team will line up: Chambers, catcher; Henry, pitcher; Humphrey, first base; Frame, sec-

Another Game.

Manager William Francis, of the Wilsonburg base ball team, wants to play his team against the Genoa, of this city, and a game may be arranged in the near future. Manager Freeland, of the Genoa club, is in correspondence with the Wilsonburg people.

Bellaire.

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

There was a splendid meeting of citizens at Squire Frank Mason's office last night to devise ways and means to bring the claims of Col. Poorman before the public, and to try and have Belmont county solid in his favor. The colonel's friends are as bitterly disappointed as he was over the result two years ago, as when he ran two years prior to that in a Democratic district he ran ahead of his ticket. That he was defeated two years ago in the present district was only sharing the fate of others in other districts, and since he seems to be of all the unfortunates the greatest victim his friends are earnest and determined in their efforts now to have him again made the candidate, when there seems no probability of slump enough to defeat whoever may be placed upon the ticket. The colonel has many warm and hearty earnest friends; but having been in politics along time he has many very bitter enemies. At this time it looks as if the result in this county will depend upon subsequent events. Col. Poorman has a reasonable sure thing on a majority of the county if Capt. Danford is not in the race, as a majority of the county means the solid support for one man.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

Haps and Mishaps in the Thriving City Across the River.

In Martin's Ferry considerable interest is taken in the INTELLIGENCER'S Decoration Day road race. Lee White and Fred Up, the amateur cyclists, expect to take part, the former riding a Cleveland racer and the latter a James wheel. Entry blanks for the race can be had at Lewis's news stand, next door to the post office.

A MIRACLE OF TO-DAY.

A Story That Equals the Miracles of Old.

A Little Girl Suffers Terrible Agony for Years—Physicians Said She Would Die—Cured at Last—Her Mother Says It is a Miracle.

From the Towns, Mass., Gazette.

The following story needs no comment whatever. It is the town talk in Wrentham, Mass., and the child's mother tells it as follows:—Mrs. Fuller said: "My daughter is now eight years old. When she was four years old she had rheumatic fever, and at once she was stricken helpless; she went from bad to worse until we all despaired of ever seeing her about again. I employed at various times physicians of Foxboro, Franklin and Attleboro, but all to no practical benefit. I gave her all sorts of medicines, and this spring I buried over two bushels of empty bottles which she had emptied from time to time. One doctor who attended her said that she had liver complaint and dropsy, and that she was going to die. I had given up all hope myself when last March I happened to get hold of an Albany, N. Y., paper, and there I read of the wonderful cure of a man up that way by a medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the patient having been afflicted as my daughter was. At that time her legs were drawn up behind her, and her arms were almost helpless. Her head was drawn down on her shoulder and she was a pitiful sight, I tell you.

I sent and got two boxes of Pink Pills, and when she had used them up I thought I could see just a bit of improvement. Then I got two more and she began to lift herself in bed, and to help herself in other ways. She kept on taking the pills, and now she is able to go over to the neighbors, and is bright and smart. She was a living skeleton; there was nothing to her but bones, and they were all out of shape. When she was first taken sick she was out of her head, and for three years, if you will believe me, it was an utter impossibility for me to catch more than five minutes' sleep at a time, so much care was she, and such constant attention did she require, and I was the only one she would let wait upon her. But I am glad I did so, and now I am getting my reward."

And the fond, patient faithful little woman glanced with pride and pleasure to the spot where the little girl was playing with her sister in the shade, just outside the window. "I have spent more than $500 on her, and although I never begrudged it yet I did want to see my child improve faster than she did. To-day she eats more at one meal than I do in two. When I commenced to give her the Pink Pills she was afflicted with a skin disease which was very annoying. Now that has all gone, and I think the pills are responsible for that. Before I started on the Pink Pills I wrote to a specialist in Buffalo, and described her symptoms; he said she had blood poisoning, due to bad milk, and wanted me to bring her there for treatment, although he said that he didn't believe she would ever get over it. She had been given up by four doctors, who were certain that they could not cure her. Why, she couldn't open her mouth, and I actually had to force the food into it. Her mouth was all sores, and, oh dear, what a looking child she was, and such a care! Nobody but myself knows what a trial we both have been through, for she was too young to realize it. If my statement will do anybody any good I shall be glad to have it published, and if those who read it will only come to me, if they are skeptical, I can convince them in very little time that I know what I am talking about. People around here say it was a miracle, and I believe it was."

The neighbors bore witness to the condition of the child previous to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and were enthusiastic in their praises of the splendid work which had been accomplished by them in this case.

Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of the grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness, either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., or Brockville, Ontario.
